ROCKEFELLER IS GIVEN HELP IN CONTROL BATTLE

Alien Property Custodian Will Vote German Stock

New York, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Colonel Robert W. Stewart, arriving in New York this morning, said that his main business here was in connection with the internal affairs of the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana, of which he is chairman and that his visit had "no connection whatever" with the Rockefeller fight to remove him from the leadership.

The New York Times said today that John D. Rockefeller, Sr., although retired, has thrown the full weight of his influence back of and may even assume actual direction of the fight his son is making to prevent re-election of Col. W. Stewart as chairman of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana.

J. D. GETS HELP
Washington, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Aid for John D. Rockefeller, Jr., in his fight to oust Robert W. Stewart as Chairman of the Board of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, has come from Howard E. Sutherland, Alien Property Custodian.

Mr. Sutherland by virtue of his office holds the voting power of between 12,000 and 13,000 shares of Standard Oil Company of Indiana stock, the property of Germans seized during the war, and he has announced that he has assigned the voting proxies to Rockefeller.

Mr. Rockefeller asked for the voting power about a week ago, and before Mr. Sutherland made his decision, a similar request came from Mr. Stewart. The Alien Property Custodian made his decision known yesterday, saying that he had acted only after careful consideration. The stock is on deposit with the Equitable Trust Company of New York.

The class between the two capitalists is one of the many ramifications growing out of the oil leases made by the government. Mr. Stewart's testimony before a Senate committee investigating the Teapot Dome oil lease did not please Rockefeller and he asked for Stewart's resignation. This Stewart has refused to give.

MAN KILLED ON FREEPORT ROAD BECAUSE OF ICE

Woman Drove Into Him as He Stopped to Clean Windshield

Alvin Allen, residing in Flora township, Stephenson county, south of Freeport, was killed instantly about 8 o'clock this morning on the route 26 paving, about three miles south of Freeport. Mr. Allen who is employed by a Freeport firm was on his way to his work, and about three side of the paving and stopped his car for the purpose of cleaning the ice from the windshield.

He was scraping the ice off the glass, when another car driven by Mrs. Irvin Vietmer of Forreston, which was Freeport bound, struck him, knocked him down and passed over the body. The windshield on Mrs. Vietmer's car was also said to be covered with ice which prevented her from seeing the halted machine and its driver. Initial injuries are believed to have caused instant death. The body was removed to Freeport where an inquest will be conducted late this afternoon. Allen is survived by his wife and one daughter. Mrs. Vietmer was said to be in a hysterical condition immediately following the accident and it was doubted that she would be able to testify at the inquest.

DEPOSED AFGHAN KING PLANS FOR RETURN ATTEMPT

Amanullah Said To Be Organizing To Regain Lost Throne

New Delhi, India, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Inayatullah, King of Afghanistan for a few days, and members of his household have been evacuated from Kabul by British air force airplanes. The party reached Peshawar en route to Kandahar, where Inayatullah's predecessor and brother, the former King Amanullah, is.

TO TRY A "COME-BACK"

London, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Advises from Karachi, India, today said that former King Amanullah of Afghanistan was gathering support from southern Afghans for an attempt to recover his lost throne from the water carrier who became king, Habibullah Khan. One incentive presumably is Amanullah's expectation of a heir.

Amanullah, after his abdication in Kabul, reached Kandahar in the south of Afghanistan and raised the royal standard over the palace here, indicating that he still considered himself a factor in the situation. He seemed to be in authority over that section and it was reported that he also had support at Ghazni.

Persons familiar with Afghanistan today expressed doubts whether Amanullah would be able to move against Kabul before spring. In Kabul, Habibullah held sway having taken the throne from Inayatullah, elder brother of Amanullah who became ruler after Amanullah's abdication.

GOV. EMMERSON IS UNABLE TO REACH DIXON THIS TIME

Burden of Affairs In Capital Prevents Visit in Dixon

Pressure of business in connection with his office prevented Governor Louis L. Emmerson from being present at the complimentary banquet arranged in his honor in connection with the state school of instruction and meeting of the Grand Lodge of Illinois A. F. & A. M. of Illinois, last evening at the Masonic Temple, Deputy Grand Master E. C. Mullen of Chicago, was present, however, and gave a very interesting talk during the evening following the banquet. A telegram from Governor Emmerson expressed his keen regret at not being able to attend the school, together with a promise to visit Friendship lodge at another time.

More than 300 Masons from all sections of the state were present at the second day of the school yesterday, and indications early today pointed to a much larger attendance at the closing sessions this afternoon and evening. A far greater number than was anticipated, attended the sessions yesterday afternoon and evening and the officers of Friendship lodge feel quite jubilant over the interest that has been shown during the three days and the large attendance despite the inclemency of the weather, which has kept a number of delegations from being present.

Still Trying To Dry Up Kansas After 50 Years of Prohibition

Topeka, Kansas, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Stringent efforts to dry up Kansas, where state prohibition has been in effect for nearly a half century, have been inaugurated under the leadership of the new chief executive Governor Clyde M. Reed, and the state capital already has felt the crusade. Raising squads of federal and state prohibition officers launched into action here Wednesday and ten arrests were made. Announcement followed that raiding would continue until the town was dried up.

Given assurance that the legislature was ready to take up his proposal for a special fund of $40,000 to be expended under his direction for dry work, the executive had turned to the state law enforcement machinery to put his ideas into effect.

Following a lengthy conference with the Governor yesterday, Attorney General William A. Smith directed personal letters to all county attorneys advising them that they were expected to vigorously enforce the prohibition laws.

Speculate On The Value Of Opera In Chicago Campaign

Chicago, Jan. 18.—(AP)—The case of Frank D. Ayres vs. O. C. St. Clair had to do with a $185.00 board bill. Counsel for St. Clair said his client felt he was under no debt for board to the plaintiff because he had helped Ayres with a certain opera.

"This opera," said the attorney, Ralph Rosen, "was composed by Wirt Dennison. Ayres and St. Clair were interested in selling it to the Mayor William H. Thompson's political organization, and have tried unsuccessfully to subvert a Mayor Thompson and Michael J. Flaherty, president of the Board of Local Improvements. They know all about it."

Judge James Farley doubted if discussion of the opera would be in tune with the case, but St. Clair decided to relate it anyway.

"It was a grand opera," St. Clair said. "It oozed politics, from overtone to tone."

The Mayor and Mr. Flaherty applauded it.

"But somehow," sighed St. Clair, "it never was put over." That, he believed, was mainly because no one could be found who cared to risk $20,000 on opera as a vote-getter.

It would have been interesting, St. Clair thought, to see how much power an aria had in bringing out the boys on election day; how potentially politically was a cadenza, and how valuable to the candidates an intermezzo for muted strings.

St. Clair still was speculating on the possibilities when Judge Farley told him to write a check for $200 in favor of Ayres.

Another Michigan Bootlegger Goes To Jail For Life

Manistique, Mich., Jan. 18.—(AP)—A life term in the state prison at Jackson, was the penalty meted out to Tony Papich, liquor law violator by Judge Herbert W. Rannels here today. Rannels said the sentence was mandatory under the provisions of the habitual criminal code. Papich was convicted of liquor offenses five times previously.

SCHOOL BOYS IN TROUBLE AFTER PETTY THIEVERY

Two Dixon Lads Sent to St. Charles For Local Thefts

Several weeks of thievery, robbery and shoplifting, is believed to have been halted yesterday afternoon in the confessions signed by Oscar Steder, aged 15, and Edward Giese, 15, north side school students, who were taken to the police station by Chief Van Bibber and Officer John Bohndiel to be questioned. As the result of the information secured, Chief Van Bibber this morning caused informations to be filed in the county court, where both boys were to appear before Judge Leech.

The boys, according to the police, are members of a gang of north side young men, all under the age of 20 years, who are suspected of having a record for thievery and shoplifting and it was expected that robbery might be included in the list of crimes committed by the gang members before the investigation, which is under way today, is completed.

Some Loot Recovered.
A quantity of articles was recovered by Chief Van Bibber in the investigations conducted yesterday afternoon and last evening and these were to be presented in the county court this morning. A sum of money was also included in the cache of recovered articles.

Admits Local Thefts.
Giese was the first to be brought to the station for questioning yesterday afternoon. He is said to have made two signed confessions in which he admitted several thefts from local merchants. In one of these he told of finding $50 at the corner of Boyd street and Galena avenue a few days after Christmas. Some of the money he used to purchase a suit of clothes and the remainder he placed in one of the local banks as a savings account.

While selecting the suit of clothes, he took a leather bill fold, he told the officers.

Last evening, Harold T. Sheets, 1826 West First street came to the police station and reported to Chief Van Bibber that he lost $50 on the night of January 5 at the same corner on the north side, the sum consisting of two twenty and one ten dollar bills. These answered the denials of young Giese gave in recounting his find.

Steder in his signed confession made to Chief Van Bibber, is said to have admitted entering a locker at the Y. M. C. A. on the evening of January 15, and removing $15 from a bill fold which was in a coat belonging to M. C. Selander, instructor at the north side high school. Steder claimed that $15 was the only money he took, although it was reported that $28 was taken at the time of the robbery. Some of this money was recovered by the police from other boys, with whom it had been entrusted by Steder, to prevent its being found on his person in the event that he might be questioned or searched by officers. At the police station this morning it was said that both boys have admitted to a long record of crimes of this nature, many of which are not of a minor character, and Chief Van Bibber was making an attempt to break up the gang which for a period of several months have been the cause of a great deal of trouble to the department.

Sent to St. Charles.
When taken before Judge Leech in the county court shortly before noon today, both boys were declared delinquent and sentenced to serve indeterminate sentences at the St. Charles school for boys.

PINCHED IN LA SALLE

Pio Franckey, who for several months resided in the vicinity of Amboy, where he became quite well known, has been gathered into the net thrown out by federal prohibition officers in LaSalle county. The following dispatch from LaSalle tells of Franckey's arrest:

Pio Franckey, prominent in Springfield labor and political circles, is at liberty under bonds of $5,000, following his arrest on a federal warrant charging him with violation of the prohibition laws.

Franckey was arrested Wednesday by two deputy United States marshals who returned him to Peoria, where he was given a hearing before Commissioner Moore, later to be released on bonds.

His arrest was the aftermath of a raid upon the huge illicit distillery at Benld made by federal men sometime ago.

Franckey of late had been living a quiet life in Springfield, it was said. At one time he was chief of police of Springfield Valley and following his discharge went to Benld where he was said to have gone in with John Giachetto, engaged in illicit booze operations.

Following a fight between the two men, it was said that Franckey tipped off the federal men, causing the raid on the outfit said to be one of the largest in Illinois.

Six Injured in "Reprisal" Blast in Detroit Today

Detroit, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Six persons were injured seriously and a furniture store, a motion picture theater, grocery and a restaurant were destroyed by an explosion at Gratiot and Harper avenues shortly before 1 o'clock this morning. The damage was estimated at $150,000.

Police believed the blast was planned as reprisal for the fatal shooting of an Italian marcher in a Columbus Day parade here last October.

Two of the injured are under police guard in a hospital for questioning, and a third man, found hiding in the vicinity, is held for investigation.

Detectives investigating the blast said it was caused by gasoline, the drums of which were found in the alley behind the furniture store.

Search is being made for John Carrisi, 45, proprietor of the furniture store. Relatives said he left with his family for Chicago yesterday after having received several threatening letters.

"I FAW DOWN, GO BOOM" UNPOPULAR "HIT" OF THE DAY

Everybody Stands In Slippery Places Today In Dixon

"I Faw Down and Go Boom" is humorous when heard on the radio, but as put into practice by Godly and un-Godly Dixonites alike who tried to stand in slippery places today, it became a stern reality. All because the weatherman went off on another spree during the night and dished up another swell mess to add to the conglomeration of snow, sleet, bitter cold, etc. which he has served this community since the first of the year.

Rain during the early morning hours, which froze the moment it hit the already slippery streets and sidewalks, brought additional dangers and grief to motorists and pedestrians alike; and the freezing of the rain on windshields was an added obstacle to safe driving.

Pavements in the country, from which much of the snow had been removed, were made especially slippery by the freezing rain and driving was of necessity hazardous.

Wire Service Threatened
There was danger at noon today of wire service in Dixon, and vicinity being hampered by the crust of ice on both telephone and power lines. Reports indicated that the condition was much worse in the country than in the city and while at noon, no difficulty had been experienced, it was said that the ice was forming heavier on out of town lines and that some trouble would probably result.

E. F. BEDIENT OF LEE CENTER WAS TAKEN SUDDENLY

Dropped Dead Yesterday Afternoon in Jeanblanc Garage

Eugene F. Bedient, a prominent resident of Lee Center township, dropped dead yesterday afternoon while conversing with Albert H. Hill, highway commissioner of Lee Center township in the Charles Jeanblanc garage in that village. Mr. Bedient, who was 68 years of age, was transacting business in Lee Center and stopped in the garage to visit with some of his acquaintances.

He appeared to be in his usual health and while conversing with Mr. Hill suddenly sank to the floor. Dr. F. M. Banker was summoned immediately, as it was thought that Mr. Bedient had suffered a fainting spell, but when the physician arrived from Franklin Grove, it was found that death had been almost instantaneous. An inquest was conducted over the remains late yesterday afternoon, the jury returning a verdict finding that death was due to a cerebral hemorrhage.

Salesman Died In Car on Streets Of Sterling Thursday

Anthony Zier, aged 55, of Chicago, salesman for the American Varnish Co. died at the wheel of his automobile on East Third street in Sterling shortly before noon Thursday, it being evident that he had felt sick and had pulled to the curb to seek assistance. He had shut off the ignition of his auto when he fell dead over the wheel.

An unidentified woman, passing on the street, saw him fall forward and called the police, who responded at once to find the man dead. A physician was summoned who pronounced life extinct. Investigation showed that the unfortunate man, who had made numerous trips to Dixon in his line of business, had spent Wednesday night at the Lincoln Tavern in Sterling, and had appeared in his usual health when he checked out from the hotel Thursday morning. It is believed that he was enroute east, to visit Dixon, when he felt sickness coming on, and had turned around and was going back to the business part of Sterling for medical attention, when death came. His widow arrived in Sterling last evening to take charge of the body.

Paris, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Ambassador Herrick, who was seriously ill recently at his home near Cleveland, returned to Paris this morning. The station platform was crowded with members of the American colony and French friends when the train pulled in.

Feed Feathered Friends Or They Starve To Death

Rain, freezing on the snow as it fell, creates a crust over the ground which makes it impossible for birds to gather even a crumb of food and such a condition, which may last for days, will starve kindly humans a hand. Town folks should place food where the birds can get it.

Country people have an even more arduous duty. Without their help, quail, prairie chicken, pheasant, as well as the song bird will be the sufferers. Unfavorable weather kills many more of these valuable birds than do hunters. Take grain to the localities where coveys are wont to inhabit.

GOV. OF OKLAHOMA MAY BE IMPEACHED BY LEGISLATURE

Probing Committee Works Behind Closed Doors; Climax Near

BULLETIN
Oklahoma City, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Ten charges of impeachment against Governor Henry S. Johnston were reported to the Oklahoma House of Representatives today by its investigating committee. Charging the Governor was interfering with the progress of the investigation the committee asked its immediate suspension from office.

The Governor was generally charged by the committee with violation of the constitution and laws of the State of Oklahoma; wilful neglect of duty; incompetency, corruption in office; and offenses involving moral turpitude.

Oklahoma City, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Legislative investigation of the administration of Governor Henry S. Johnston approached a climax here today with reports from members of the probing committee that they understood impeachment charges now were being drafted against the executive.

Last night's session of the House of Representatives committee, the greater part of which was executive, failed to produce any charges, but members of the committee refused to divulge what had taken place behind the closed doors, saying they had been bound to secrecy.

Earlier in the day H. Tom Knight, Committee member, and an arch foe of the chief executive, announced from the witness stand that evidence of what he believed an impeachable offense on the part of the committee already was before the body. He understood, he said, that charges were being drawn by committee members and was joined in this statement by Clay M. Roper, of Vinita, another member.

The House itself was thrown into an uproar yesterday in a bitter debate over a resolution asking Oklahoma's United States senators to seek congressional action withholding federal aid from state highways until investigation of the state highway department is completed.

Alleged Forger Was In Dixon For A Time

Earl Hines, who is wanted in Wheaton on a charge of passing forged checks, was taken into custody Thursday morning at the Hotel Francis in LaSalle and is being held there for the police from Wheaton.

With Hines at the time of his arrest was a woman, whom he is believed to have been passing checks for. She was released within a few minutes after police had taken her to headquarters.

Wheaton authorities were expected to arrive in LaSalle to return Hines for a preliminary hearing. LaSalle police had been on the lookout for the man for several weeks and when he arrived from Dixon, they were advised of his presence in LaSalle and Patrolman Frank Krueger made the arrest at the hotel.

Hines declared that he had been in LaSalle since Christmas, having traveled from here. Police, however, discredited this statement pointing out that he would have been placed under arrest before.

He was the second alleged forger to be arrested in LaSalle in the past few days for outside police. Early in the week, John Bomberger was taken into custody by the LaSalle authorities and held for Dixon police, who charged him with passing forged checks.

FIRST ADJOURNED SESSION GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF ILL.

Convened 110 Years Ago Today and Voted to Move Capital

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 18.—(AP)—Adjourned sessions of the Illinois General Assembly have been numerous, but the convening of the first adjourned Assembly, 110 years ago today at Kaskaskia, was fraught with meaning for the fledgling state.

It was at this session that the bill was passed which moved the state capital from Kaskaskia to Vandalia. The first session of the General Assembly convened at Kaskaskia, October 5, 1818, but remained in session only eight days. It was adjourned until January 18, 1819.

This body petitioned Congress, a form prescribed by the Federal constitution, for a tract of land of four sections—the largest amount mentioned in the petition—to be selected by the state for the establishment of the seat of government for a period of twenty years. This request was granted by Congress, March 3, 1819.

After expressing satisfaction over the compliance of Congress with the petition submitted by the Legislature, the Assembly provided that a commission of five men should "select a suitable site whereon to fix the government of this state—each commissioner—to be governed alone by the interest of this state."

These commissioners "or a major part of them" should "within three months from the official publication of the act of Congress," select the prescribed land "said land to be situated on the Kaskaskia river, and as near as may be east of the third principal meridian on said river."

The commission was "authorized and required to sell 150 lots (not more than ten lots to be on the public square) to the highest bidder." As soon as practicable after platting the town as state capital, they were required to secure a contract for the erection of "a suitable house for the reception of the General Assembly at their next stated session." It was to be a two story building with the House of Representatives chamber on the first floor and the Senate chamber on the second floor.

One section of the law provided that the next session of the General Assembly should be held there and that the new location should be the state capital for 20 years.

Commissioners appointed were: Samuel Whiteside, Levi Compton, William Alexander, Thomas Cox and Guy W. Smith.

Legend recounts the tale of the manner in which these men agreed on the final site, low Vandalia. One of the men shot a deer which fell at the foot of a large oak tree. After part of the meat had provided the commissioners with an excellent meal, they decided to locate the house on the exact spot where fell the deer.

Tradition also tells that a wag was suggested for the name of the city. He suggested that the vanished tribe of Indians, known as Vandals, had once inhabited that region. The commissioners were delighted and named the spot Vandalia.

THIS REVOLVING DOOR TRICK HAS COPS BEFUDDLED

Smart Alec Bandits Are Hard to Get Safely Through Doors

Chicago, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Word has gone out to Chicago policemen that this revolving door trick must be stopped. A prisoner escaped several weeks ago by the simple expedient of going all the way around in a revolving door while his captors stopped inside. To his credit, the prisoner survived the next day, explaining that the trick had caused his conscience to hurt him.

It would have been a closed incident had not Jack Hendricks held up a loop restaurant last night and got himself all tangled up in the purling portals. As he was about to exit with his ill-gotten gains from the Harding restaurant on South Wabash Ave., a clerk seized the door, and held Hendricks imprisoned until police arrived.

Better Next Time

So much for that. There also is a revolving door at the detective bureau. After Hendricks had been booked, Policemen Kleintz and Sundheim started with him to the detention home.

Officer Sundheim stepped inside the revolving door first. Next came Hendricks, Officer Kleintz intended to enter the compartment behind Hendricks.

Half way through, Hendricks gave the door a violent push. Officer Sundheim, was pushed past his fellow officer's feet. Hendricks, meanwhile, was on his way, fleetly, down the avenue.

Officers pursued, and a lot of shots were fired, but Hendricks got away.

Al's Appeal Brings Democratic Checks

New York, Jan. 18.—(AP)—The radio appeal of Alfred E. Smith for contributions to wipe out the $1,500,000 deficit of the Democratic party has brought an avalanche of checks and pledges of funds.

Hundreds of letters, accompanied by checks ranging from $5 to $100, and telegrams promising checks to follow by mail have been received by Mr. Smith, John J. Raskob, National chairman, and James W. Gerard, treasurer of the National committee. No attempt has been made to total the amount received.

Virtually every contributor has requested from one to 100 copies of the book containing Mr. Smith's campaign speeches, which he announced would be given each contributor of $2 or more who requested it.

CONGRESS ALREADY FEELING PRESSURE FROM LEGISLATION

Longer Hours Asked For in Senate to Complete Work

WHAT CONGRESS IS DOING BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

FRIDAY: Senate considers cruiser bill and the House independent offices bill.

Nomination of Roy O. West to be Secretary of Interior scheduled for consideration by Senate in executive session.

Senate immigration committee has before it resolution which would postpone for year taking effect of national origins clause of immigration act.

Other House and Senate committees in routine sessions.

FEEL PRESSURE OF WORK

Washington, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Even before the half year mark has been reached Congress already is beginning to feel the legislative pressure for which its short sessions for years have been noted.

Counting out the Christmas holiday, the bigger part of the three-month session still is ahead but in the Senate a demand already has been made that the senators hurry up committee work and arrive in the chamber an hour ahead of the usual convening time at noon.

The House, however, with its drastic rules for shutting off speech-making, is well ahead of the program mapped out early last December by Speaker Longworth and Representative Tilson of Connecticut, the Republican floor leader. Unless the unexpected should develop it is doubtful if the House members will be called upon to work overtime.

Cruiser Bill To Fore Again

Today the administration's cruiser construction bill again had the right of way in the senate with Chairman Hale of the naval committee, who is in charge of the measure, determined to expedite its consideration as much as possible. It was Hale who yesterday urged longer hours for the Senators.

The measure, however, has trouble ahead as a group of Senators, principally from the central west, has announced opposition to the program to build 15 cruisers and one aircraft carrier. So far they have not taken the floor to voice their views since with the exception of a speech by Senator Tydings, Democrat, Maryland, in favor of the program, other legislation yesterday prevented its discussion.

In the House, the independent offices appropriation bill still was the order of business. The measure, which provides funds for the host of offices, bureaus and agencies not under jurisdiction of the departments headed by cabinet members, necessarily is provocative of considerable discussion because of the variety of subjects touched upon.

To Discuss Roy O. West

The Senate, aside from the work planned on the cruiser bill, also had arranged late in the day to retire into executive session to consider the nomination of Roy O. West, of Chicago, to be Secretary of Interior. Some opposition developed to Mr. West during recent hearings before a Senate committee and there were indications of a continuance of this during the deliberations of the Senate itself.

The committees of both Houses, as usual had arranged to take up a wide variety of subjects, chief among these being a continuation of the tariff revision work by the Ways and Means Committee of the House.

Venezuela City is Levelled by Quake: Dead Number Score

Caracas, Venezuela, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Steamers and all the smaller craft available today were rushing toward city of Cumana, which was leveled by an earthquake with food and medical supplies and tents. They were also carrying nurses and doctors to care for the injured.

Every building in the city was destroyed, the Governor of Cumana informed President Gomez by wireless, adding that there were a great number of victims.

The newspaper Universal put the number of dead at 25, out of the city's population of about 25,000. The paper said a great number of injured persons were being taken from the ruins.

The earthquake severed telegraph communication with the city and accounts were fragmentary regarding the extent of the disaster.

Princess Mary Is Thrown From Horse

London, Jan. 18.—(AP)—The Daily Mail said today that Princess Mary had a narrow escape from a horse's hoofs when she was thrown from her mount while hunting with the Bramham Moor hounds.

The Princess's horse floundered on boggy ground, throwing the Princess clear and some distance. Other riders were so close that they had difficulty in avoiding riding over her horse. Because the ground was soft the Princess was not hurt by her fall.

WHITE MAGIC
Now lies a hush of whiteness on this land
Where winter with a delicate pure hand
Has painted beauty on the common-places

The trees are turned to ghost-white coral groves
As still as stone. Here no bird moves.
And round the garden is a wall
Of frosty filigree more magical
Than things Cellini wrought.
The cornfield is an ivory colonnade
Where sparrows' rendezvous is made
To glean the pearly grain. Behind a caul

Of frosted weeds' hoar-lace
Crouches a polar-rabbit sought
By silent-footed foe.
The rich warm bosom of the field
Now following for next year's yield
Is bossed with drifts of gleaming snow.

And all this loveliness of silvered quietude
Brings to the troubled heart earth's old beatitude.

Thos. F. Ryan Weds Mrs. Moorhead Rea

New York, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Thomas Fortune Ryan, 2nd, grandson of the late Thomas Fortune Ryan, financier, and the former Mrs. Margaret Moorhead Rea were on a secret honeymoon today after a surprise marriage at the municipal building. They appeared at the marriage license bureau shortly before it closed yesterday, accompanied by two friends, obtained a license and were married immediately by City Clerk Michael J. Cruise in his office.

Mrs. John Barry Ryan, mother of the bridegroom, said she knew nothing of the marriage or where her son was.

"If my son is married I don't know anything about it and I positively have nothing to say," Mrs. Ryan said. "He is not here and I don't know where he is."

Mr. Ryan, who gave his age as 29 and his occupation as rancher, is a member of an old and prominent family. His father, John Barry Ryan, inherited approximately one-fifth of the estate left by Thomas Fortune Ryan, estimated from $100,000,000 to $500,000,000.

The bridegroom's uncle, Allan A. Ryan, was cut off with the bequest of a pair of cuff links.

The bride is the daughter of the late John Moorhead, Jr., and member of a family that has figured in the steel industry. Her marriage to Henry O. Rea, son of the former president of the Pennsylvania railroad, was a social event in Pittsburgh in 1922. After a honeymoon in Europe they resided in Sewickley, a fashionable suburb of Pittsburgh. She obtained a divorce from Rea in Pittsburgh last year. In her license she gave her age as 29.

The Golden Rule Circle of the Grace Evangelical church will meet on Monday evening with Mrs. C. C. Buzzard, 211 E. Bradshaw street at 6:30 o'clock for a picnic supper, to be followed by the regular meeting. A good attendance is desired.

San Malo Discusses American Audiences

At a talk during a recent meeting of the Society of Old-Time Instrumentalists, Alfredo San Malo, the Latin violinist, who will play at the Dixon Theater, Sunday at 2:45, gave his views on American audiences.

"My first season in America was a revelation to me of the musical intelligence of the people of the United States," said Mr. San Malo. "During my first appearances I had some difficulty getting a feeling of oneness with my audiences, because their reception of a musical program is rather different in quality than that of the typical European audience. But this handicap was rapidly overcome, as I came to understand them better."

"I believe that programs need to be constructed a little differently here than in Europe. In some cases, the European audience is of a very high grade musically, and their innate acquaintance with the literature of the violin is enormous. If the American audience is somewhat less schooled in the musical classics, its general average of intelligence is higher than anywhere else in the world. This gives the artist a wider scope, and at the same time, demands a greater variety of presentation."

"For my coming year in America I shall prepare new programs, based on my study of the American audiences. The program will require an infinite amount of work, both in preparation and in presentation, but I am sure I shall be rewarded by the interest and sympathy of my audiences."

"The United States is today, I am convinced, the most musically conscious nation in the world. Good music will spread very rapidly during the next few years throughout this country, and the whole world will be astonished at the result."

"I am looking forward with great pleasure and eagerness to visiting the Pacific coast next autumn. For the more I see of the United States, the more I am convinced of the great musical possibilities of this alert and enterprising people."

MILLEDGEVILLE COUPLE MARRIED ON SUNDAY

Milledgeville — (Special) — Miss Dorothy Smith and Earl Derr of Milledgeville were united in marriage on Sunday. Miss Smith is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Smith of this place, and has been employed at the Milledgeville Mutual Telephone Company for the past year.

EVIDENT!—Professor (speaking on phone)—You say that Billy Smith has a bad cold and will not be able to attend school today. Who is this speaking? Voice (hoarsely)—My father.

The WOMAN'S DAY by ALLENE JAMES

The Misses Vile Gentry and Grace Lyon are planning a trans-Atlantic flight. Miss Gentry will do the work and Miss Lyon will be passenger. If they succeed they'll be the first two women to cross the ocean. After that we'll probably have the first cat to cross and the first husband and wife to cross and the first mother and daughter, and so on. Really no limit to the possibilities if we, the enduring public, just keep our own endurance.

HUSBAND AND SKIRTS
A Los Angeles judge must decide whether a husband's insistence on regulating the length of his wife's skirts is cruel or not. Mrs. Ruth Howland, suing her husband, Lee Howland, for divorce, thinks that it is. She claimed that his insistence on long skirts made her "an object of ridicule."

Whether the judge is duly horrified or not, it does not take much imagination to realize just how much tragedy might be involved in this domestic line-up. A husband who insists on regulating his wife's skirt lengths would probably try to do the cooking, dole out nickels to run the house with, and of course, put the ban no cosmetics and short hair.

EASY DIVORCE

"Easy divorce" of greater concern to women than to men. Women are tied to children as men never can be, and most women are badly handicapped for vocations other than home making after years of work in the home."

Just one paragraph from the long report recently made public by the committee on marriage and home of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America.

Somewhat "clicks" a little more than many of the other paragraphs which only repeat all the too-shaky marriage business. It's not only men but women, who, hearing of other women's economic prowess, seem just to take it for granted all too often that the moment they, too, want a pay envelope in exchange for the life domestic, all they need do is apply. The fact that they are utterly untrained for the wage-earning world, or that, even if once trained, their years of domesticity have dulled their blade, rarely seems to percolate till too late, and, the divorce in hand, they wonder what next.

MATERNAL INSTINCT

Mrs. Joseph Lorenzo, 21, carried her two-day-old baby and four-year-old little boy down three flights of a fire escape when flames broke out in a Quebec hospital. Just one more proof—if any's needed—that the maternal instinct of preservation of young is about as strong as any human instinct. But the modern slant on it is that it's dangerous as well—that it takes courage to thin it out and dwarf it when the tendency to forfeit all for young merely makes the young selfish and demanding.

Fane-White Wedding Celebrated

On Saturday morning January 12th, at 11:30 Miss Elizabeth Fane, sister of the Messrs. Ed and Allen Fane of 922 Woodlawn St., was united in marriage to Carl E. White of Rockford, Illinois. The double ring ceremony was performed by the bride's pastor, the Rev. Michael Foley in the parsonage of St. Patrick's Church, in the presence of the immediate family.

Attending Mr. and Mrs. White as honor matron and as best man were Mrs. Ed Fane of Dixon and Raulle Schallers of Mendota.

The bride was most attractive in a brown chiffon velvet frock with hat, gloves and shoes of harmonizing shades. She wore a corsage of pink roses and sweet peas. Mrs. Fane, matron of honor, was becomingly gowned in blue with a corsage of roses and lavender sweet peas.

Following the ceremony a three-course wedding breakfast was served at the Fane home on Woodlawn St. The bridal table was lovely in its color scheme of pink and white; being beautifully carried out with lighted tapers and flowers.

Mrs. White attended St. Mary's School and after graduating from the Dixon High School took the position of cashier with the Public Supply Company. She became a most valued and efficient employee of that concern and during her life time in Dixon has made many business and social friends.

Mr. White is the son of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. White of Clements, Kansas. He is a graduate of the Kansas Agricultural College and for many years has been connected with the engineering department of the J. I. Case Company. He was transferred to Dixon, then to Rockford when the company lately moved members of its force there. While here he has made many friends and is held in high esteem.

Mrs. White's traveling costume was a brown tweed frock. She wore a seal coat trimmed in fitch, with hat, gloves and shoes of brown. Early in the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. White motored to Springfield to spend a few days with her sisters. They returned to Dixon, then left for Bay City, Texas, where his duties will keep him for some time. Later they will be at home to their many friends at Rockford, Illinois.

"Come here, Mary."

"Just a minute, Mother."

"Mary, when I say come, come. Don't put me off that way."

"All right, I'm coming."

Mary came into the living room dropping crumbs from her piece of bread and butter and jelly.

"Don't bring that in here. You'll ruin the rug. Those greasy crumbs make spots."

"Mayn't I finish my bread? I'm awfully hungry."

"Yes—go back to the kitchen and finish it, but hurry. I want you to do an errand."

"Come here, Mary."

"Yes, Mother—just a minute."

"Mary! Come here. I won't wait another instant. I'm getting tired of your just-a-minuting me."

"I just had two more words in spelling to finish."

"I don't care. You must learn to come the minute I call you."

Mary handed in her paper next day with the two missing words. She had forgotten all about them. She had to stay in and write each word 25 times after school.

"Mary."

"Yes, Mother!"

"Come here!"

"Yes, Mother!"

No Mary, however, was immediately forthcoming.

"Mary, what on earth are you doing? Come here this instant."

Buddy had smeared great streaks of red, blue, and yellow water-color all over the wall paper until it looked like a July sunset.

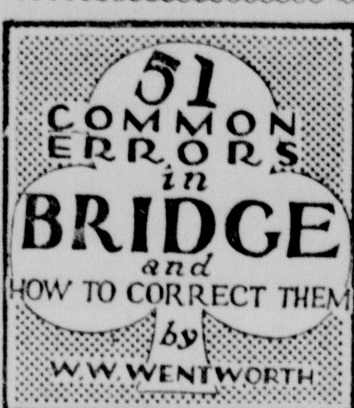

"Mary! Mary! Come here! See what you've done, you careless girl! You left your paints out and Buddy had ruined everything in your room."

"I was putting them away when you called me," said poor Mary, not waiting a minute but bursting frantically into the room. "I just knew he'd get into my things! I was coloring my map. I tried to shut the paint box and put it up where he couldn't reach it."

Her mother didn't answer. It was beginning to dawn upon her that she was a bit unreasonable about this instantaneous business.

Children should be taught to come quickly, it is true, but how often, if you are doing without delay? Not often.

It does not do to be too arbitrary.

The bidding: South open with one spade. West passes. North bids two spades and all pass. North's jump to two spades is an attempt to shut out a heart bid by East.

Deciding the Play: West leads 2 of hearts and Declarer takes the trick with Ace of hearts. What card should Declarer now lead?

The Error: Declarer plays 10 of hearts, ruffing it with 2 spades in Dummy and then draws trumps. The lead of 10 hearts so early is fatal to Declarer's chance to make game. To the novice this would appear to be the logical play. As a matter of fact, the heart is needed to establish the diamond suit later. Played too soon 10 of hearts is wasted.

The Correct Method: Declarer observes that game will be made if the diamond suit can be established. Declarer captures the first trick with Ace of hearts and then exhausts opponents' trumps by playing Ace of spades and King of spades. Then Declarer finesses the Queen of diamonds and follows by playing Ace of diamonds. The 7 of diamonds is played and ruffed in closed hand, 10 of hearts becoming the necessary re-entry to establish the remaining diamonds. The 10 of hearts is played and ruffed in Dummy and the remaining diamonds produce the game. Played in any other manner the diamond suit could not be established and game could not be made. Ruffing the 10 of hearts too soon would be fatal to making game as there is no other re-entry in Dummy to aid in establishing the diamond suit.

The Principle: When a re-entry in the Dummy is not apparent, seek one by ruffing at the proper time.

Child Labor Laws Should Be Enforced

Chicago, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Not because Americans are "avaricious, inhumane, or cruel," but because they are "ignorant that boys and girls under sixteen are still children," Child Labor Day this month finds the American people "still permitting much of the world's work to be carried on the immature shoulders of their children."

Issued by the National Child Labor committee, this statement will form the basis of observance of Child Labor Day by organizations in a score or more Illinois cities.

"Child labor is condoned," said the statement, "despite the fact that the United States is the richest country in the world, and in the face of millions of unemployed adults clamoring for jobs."

"Illinois has a child labor law, which, although not perfect, makes up well with those of other states. In general it forbids the employment of children under fourteen; restricts employment for children between sixteen and eighteen to eight hours a day; forbids night work; and surrounds its children with certain educational and physical safeguards."

The Chicago campaign is planning a program in observance of the day, Monday, January 28, and the neighboring school has been asked to cooperate. Miss L. Whitaker, acting head of the Social Science department of the DeKalb teachers college, has arranged with president J. Stanley Brown, to observe Child Labor Day at the school.

The Illinois Child Labor Committee has distributed copies of the national program to its members and asked for their cooperation. The Chicago Church Federation is sending copies of the program to all Protestant ministers in the Chicago area.

Others who have requested material include: The Girl Reserves, East St. Louis; L. E. Slinger, Plymouth; Civics Department, the Chicago Public Library; Mascoutah Community high school; Evangelical Theological Seminary, Naperville; Tnez J. Bender, Decatur; Illinois Tuberculosis Association, Springfield; the Rev. Rudolph Joep, Peoria; Mrs. C. E. McDaniell, El Paso; Kewanee Trades and Labor Assembly, Kewanee.

WOMAN'S HAND PUTS LIFE INTO FAIRY DOLLS

Pittsburgh — (AP)—As if by magic wand, Miss Nancy Thompson, Pittsburgh artist, brings to life in paper miniature the creatures of fable and fairy love.

Her hobby keeps her busy days and quite often nights, fitting tiny arms and legs to little wrapped bodies, pasting silk hose on finished fashion models, and touching up papier mache faces.

The artist says she always had a hankering to lay her hands on paper, bits of silk, paint brush and pencil. Miss Thompson's inspiration is drawn from fashion books, fairy stories and the movies.

"I make everything I am asked to make," says Miss Thompson.

THE COUNTRY DOCTOR.

A new angle of the "farm problem" which hasn't been discussed much but which will grow more and more acute with each passing year is pointed out by a writer in the current issue of the North American Review. It is the crisis in country life which is approaching as a result of the disappearance of the country doctor.

In 1906 there were in the United States 33,000 physicians in towns of 1000 population or less. By 1924 this number had dwindled to 27,000, and it is still going down. Almost one-third of the small towns that had resident doctors in 1914 have none today.

Medical education and training grow more expensive each year. The vast majority of medical graduates, seeking to recoup their expenditures, enter urban practice as specialists in one branch or another of their profession.

Just what can be done to remedy matters is not clear; obviously, it is a problem that needs some very serious consideration.

HEROISM.

It would be a stony heart that did not bleed at the story of the great sacrifice made on the altar of friendship by a nameless patron of a St. Louis speakeasy recently.

This man was standing at the bar and had just laid two dollars on the counter to pay for his drinks when federal officers entered. They asked him what the money was for. The patron thought fast.

"I was just buying sandwiches," he explained.

The officer, in surprise, asked if he bought two dollars' worth at a time. He said that he did—it was a peculiarity of his, but he liked his sandwiches in bulk. So the bartender gave him two dollars' worth of sandwiches, and he manfully struggled to eat them, while the officer looked on.

After he had downed 13 the man gave up. But his sacrifice was in vain. The officers searched the place, found some whisky and arrested the proprietor anyhow.

But, surely, no man can do more for a friend than eat 13 sandwiches that he doesn't want.

A POOR PLACE FOR THE YOUNG.

The badly-scrambled situation in the New York metropolitan area is strikingly emphasized in a current bulletin from the Regional Plan Association of New York.

This bulletin points out that the factory towns, where living conditions are poorest, have the highest percentage of children, while residential towns, where conditions are good, have the lowest. In such a manufacturing town as Perth Amboy, for instance, 46 per cent of the population is under 20; in a residential town like East Orange, only 30 per cent are under 20.

A big city and its environs may constitute an inspiring place for adults to live. But this bulletin only emphasizes what has long been obvious; it is apt to be a pretty poor place for the youngsters.

TO PRESERVE NIAGARA.

It is encouraging to read that Canada and the United States have reached an agreement for the construction of remedial works to prevent the destruction of Niagara Falls' great natural beauty.

At certain points the falls have been eroding the rocks so fast that the entire contour of the cataract threatened to change. Goat Island, in midstream, was in danger of being left high and dry, with the American falls disappearing altogether.

Now submerged weirs and jetties are to be built above the falls to deflect the flow of water so that the falls can be perpetuated as they are now. It is good news for citizens of both nations.

Grover Whalen, New York's official welcomer, is said to be slated for the job of police commissioner. The theory may be that the killer of Arnold Rothstein is waiting to be sure he'll be cordially received before he surrenders.

New York is experimenting with an electric eye which sees and controls traffic. Many of the cops have been using a worse eyes than that for years.

Two Detroit boys stole an automobile and started for Texas to become cowboys. Couldn't someone have told them that all the cowboys are in Hollywood?

They've been chasing the witches out of Pennsylvania, but nothing has been done yet about those in Hollywood.

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

SYSTEM ADOPTED TO SECURE GOOD H. S. OFFICIATING

States Association is Moving to Weed Out Poorer Officials

The Illinois High School Athletic Association has adopted a very good system of selecting officials for the annual district, sectional and state basketball tournaments. The working out of the plan also affords schools an opportunity of checking up on various officials to the end that at any game during season they may have the proper kind of officiating. The incapable officials will be weeded out. Under the new system each official throughout the state will be rated and classified. It is a big step forward in the handling of high school athletics.

Through the system of contest reports after each game by both school administrators and officials, the state office will be in a much better position to know about the quality of work being done. They will also be in a better position to choose good tournament officials. In addition the playing and officiating facilities and crowd sportsmanship should be improved.

There will be a system of registration for all who wish to officiate. The recommendation will be made that only registered officials be secured by member schools.

How Plan Works

Having registered, the officials start on a progressive schedule covering a period of five years. From a registered official he may be promoted on evidence of ability and proper qualifications to the class of "recognized officials." After demonstrating his ability in this group he may qualify for the "certified group," in which the majority of the better officials will be found. From this group a few of outstanding ability, training and experience will be eligible for promotion to the class of "honorary officials," in which will be found those who, in the minds of the educators who do the rating, are best fitted to conduct contests viewed in the light of an educational exercise. Honorary membership may be granted for outstanding achievement in matters relating to officiating.

Before being admitted to any group each official must have served in the next lower class a given length of time and must have received a designated rating on his work. In fairness to veteran officials who have demonstrated their ability, an exception will be made for the first year. During that time there will be two groups of officials, Registered and Recognized. Those who send in an application before Aug. 1, 1929, will be placed in the highest or lowest existing group depending on past record. After August 1 every applicant will be placed in the registered group with the chance of promotion. The plan will be put in operation at once as the necessary blanks are being mailed out to every official in the state.

They Don't Know

The statement of the directors of Madison Square Garden that "we don't know what we'll do about the Sharkey-Stribling fight" shows just what a job they are going to have to all the place of Tex Rickard. The man who is gone never hesitated. He did his thinking before he stepped out, and when the step was made

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

When Clwony took one drink, he too began to shrink and shrink. "Oh, gee," said he, "I hope that I don't fade right out of sight. This is a funny thing to do. Just look, my clothes are shrinking too. When I first started getting small it gave me quite a fright."

Then Scouty said, "Don't make a fuss. You'll soon be like the rest of us. I rather like this being small. It's queer as it can be." When to the proper size he'd dropped, wee Clwony's shrinking promptly stopped. And then he cried, "I'm safe now, lads. Just take a look at me."

They all stood 'round and laughed a while. "My, but I'd hate to run a mile," said Coppy. "It would tire me out. I'm too small for that now. In fact I hardly think that we are strong as we once used to be. When we have lost half of our size, it's bound to hurt somehow."

Then Carpy said, "What do we care? Let's ride once more, up in the air. Our engine still is near at hand. Let's try and start the thing." "Ha, ha," laughed Clwony. "We can't ride, 'cause we're too small to crawl inside. And, anyway, we haven't strength to start each monstrous wing."

"I have a plan," brave Scouty cried. "Just follow me! I shall be tried." He grabbed his little bottle that was full of dwarfing stuff. "We'll pour this on our engine quick," said he. "It may work out real slick. The only thing I hope is now, that we have left enough."

So Scouty pulled the cork right out and with a very merry shout, he splashed the funny liquid on the engine. Then came sighs. The Tinymites were thrilled to see the plan work. Coppy shouted, "Gee! Our engine now has shrunk up too. It's just 'bout half its size."

(Something grabs the Tinymites' engine in the next story.) (Copyright, 1929, NEA Service, Inc.)

the verbal agreements may have worked around there once, but that they didn't go any more and that they were retroactive.

Stribling was placed in another position. He has signed a contract to appear in three contests against any opponents Rickard might select, and all Rickard had to do to get him into the ring in Miami was to tell him the man and the date. But his position is none the more secure because he can't fight unless the new manager of the Garden gets a man in there, and they'll have a tough time getting one.

Dempsey Not Fond of 'Em

It is understood that Jack Dempsey is not at all disposed to work for the Garden directors. He heard that they raised a holy row about the price Rickard paid him for his two fights against Tunney. He also heard that the directors were after his pal on several occasions, and that didn't increase his personal regard for them.

There is no doubt that Dempsey intended to fight once more for Rickard and for the general business of prize fighting. It was pointed out to him that he owed a debt to the dead promoter to go through with one more fight as his memorial, but Garden directors and that the estate of his deceased pal would profit the former champion is said to believe that he owes nothing to the very little by the fight and that if it went over big (which it would) some glory would be taken away from Rickard.

The Garden directors could then say there was no genius in putting over a battle of the century. That it was just a matter of business and that as business men they had no superiors.

DETROIT TIGERS TO PRESENT MANY NEW PERFORMERS

Harris to Give Team Complete Overhauling, He Declares

BY WILLIAM H. BEATTY
Associated Press Staff Writer
Detroit, Jan. 18.—(AP)—In the spare figure of Stanley Raymond "Bucky" Harris—who says he isn't promising anything—rest the hopes of Detroit baseball fans that an ailing Detroit Tiger this season will receive a stimulating tonic.

Harris, who takes George Moriarty's place as manager of the Detroit American League club, at present is engaged in giving the Tiger a thorough overhauling.

Few regulars will be back, and even fewer of these will be certain of their places. Bucky has announced, Charley Gehringer, Harry Heilmann and Marty McManus of the infield; Jonathan Stone and Harry Rice, outfielders; Owen Carroll and Vic Sorrell, pitchers, are among those fairly certain of appearing in the lineup.

Weakest in pitching, the Detroit club, which finished in sixth place last year, will have a revised staff. Heading the list is George Uhle, brought from Cleveland; from Toronto of the minors comes Johnny Prudhomme, a right hander, who is expected to develop into a headliner.

Carroll, Sorrell, Haskell, Josh Billings and Earl Whitehill of last year's team will be available, while Lil Storer and Sam Gibson are on the doubtful list. No changes have been made in the catching staff to date.

Larry Woodall, Mervin Shea and Bill Hargraves are on the roster, and Ed Phillips of Toronto is a possibility. "Fat Robert" Forthright, who is having his poundage troubles, probably will be utility outfielder.

Heilmann may have to stage a battle for first base position with Dale Alexander, International leaguer who was acquired this year.

The Detroit club will go to Phoenix, Ariz., for the training season.

Men Frowned Girls' Club Out of Being

Toulouse, France, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Man has frowned the women's sporting clubs out of existence here.

For several years the societies flourished and the girls enjoyed their new liberty of action and dress but their elders did not enjoy it so much. The sight of girls playing football and sprinting in men's togs was a bit too much for them and a strong reactionary movement set in.

Two years ago one of the clubs disbanded and now the one remaining group of athletic girls has followed it into oblivion.

Good Thoughts for Good People

To recognize that at all times one's individual responsibility is to maintain that heavenly-mindedness which can say with the apostle, "None of these things move me," is to have risen to the calm and assurance which trust in God's ever controlling care inevitably produces.

The person who has a firm trust in the Supreme Being is powerful in His power, wise by His wisdom, happy by His happiness.

Addison.

How blest are they whose hearts are pure
From guile their thoughts are free.
To them shall God reveal Himself,
They shall His glory see.

They truly rest upon His word.
In fullest light of love.
In this their trust, they ask no more
Than guidance from above.

William Goode.

Trust in the Lord, and do good;
so shalt thou dwell in the land, and verily thou shalt be fed. Commit thy way unto the Lord, and also in him; and he shall bring it to pass.

does, is right and proper; but if it is to be acceptable to God, it must be the outcome of life, after he has trusted in the finished work of Christ. What we do, must be the result of our forgiveness, not the means by which we try to obtain it.

Mid-week service:

7:30 Wednesday. Prayer praise and Bible Study. Two prayer services so that every member of the family may enjoy the fellowship. Remember God speaks to you when reading the Bible and you speak with God in prayer. Satan has ten thousand ways for drawing us away from the Scriptures. This done, we are in his net. It is by prayer and Bible study that we are fortified against Satan's devices.

Christ arose for our justification.

A welcome and a Message for all.

CITIES START CAMPAIGNS TO GET HOSPITAL

A New Institution for Mental Defectives is Considered

Decatur, Ill., Jan. 18.—(AP)—Illinois may have a new state charitable institution before the 56th General Assembly ends its session.

So strong is the belief that a new institution will be created to house the class known as mentally deficient criminals, that already rivalry is springing up as to where it should be located.

The city of Decatur has been asked by Rep. W. C. Chynoweth if it would be receptive to the construction of the institution there. Mr. Chynoweth has consulted with Roy W. Ide, director of welfare who confirmed need for another institution, which would be an "intermediate" institution between the Jacksonville institution for the criminally insane, and the Lincoln state school and colony.

It was pointed out that the Lincoln institution is woefully overcrowded. Created as a school for "sub-normal children", today it is a melting pot for all state wards whose degree of mental deficiency is such that they may be classified as feeble-minded.

The last annual report of the director of the Lincoln state school gave the population as 2,219 at the beginning of 1922, and 3,078 at the end.

"The institution," said the report, "is very much over-crowded. There have been no new accommodations built since November, 1924." It is probable that if Decatur wishes to be the site of the new school, Rep. Chynoweth will introduce a bill providing for its construction at an early session.

NO MORE "FLATFEET."
Providence, R. I.—Flatfeet, the characteristic of a "cop" since the first strated running a police force, will eventually be doomed. Policemen of this city, who pound the pavements for many weary hours, have been treated by a foot specialist. The cops walk on a special treadmill, so designed that the specialist can point out faults in their walking. This remedied, the cops are able to avoid flat feet.

This is real Heato weather. If you feet trouble you get a box of Heato.

HEALTH DIRECTOR PROPOSES LAW TO ERECT SANITARIUM

Also Favors Measures to Permit County to Create Dept.

Springfield — Amendment to the law concerning counties so as to enable county governments so desiring to create and maintain health departments and a new law carrying an appropriation which would enable the state to construct and maintain a tuberculosis sanitarium in the extreme southern end of the state are two measures recommended by Dr. Isaac D. Rawlings, state health director for action by the General Assembly recently convened. Laws permitting the execution of these two ideas would constitute a forward step of the greatest importance to the future public health program of the state, Dr. Rawlings declared.

"Health conditions in small communities and rural areas are inferior in many respects to those now found in cities," Dr. Rawlings said. "This situation is the result of more intensive public health work which the larger cities have been able to do. County governments have no specific legal authority for setting up health machinery to remedy matters except in the face of emergencies. The proposed amendment would extend to counties the privileges now enjoyed by cities in reference to health departments and would enable a number of counties which are so inclined to provide more adequate health protection for the rural population."

Worst T. B. Conditions
"The worst tuberculosis problem in the state is found in the depths of Egypt where mortality from that disease still runs well above 100 per 100,000 population in half a dozen counties. Throughout all of the 33 counties which make up southern Illinois the mortality rate is considerably higher than in any other like area in the state."

"The population in southern Illinois is too sparse and economic conditions are too unsatisfactory to justify the people there in undertaking an anti-tuberculosis campaign of the proportions required to remedy the situation in a large way. Total annual expenditures for anti-tuberculosis work in all the 33 counties south of Madison amount to less than $25,000, while the 35 central counties spend $375,000 and the 33 northern counties $3,500,000. Madison county, classed with the southern tier of 34, spends nearly $80,000 per year. These figures give a per capita rate of about 9, 31 and 71 cents respectively for the three areas."

"The excessive losses suffered by the southern tier of counties affect the economic structure of the whole state and retard development of a section rich in natural resources. Financial assistance from the state in a vigorous anti-tuberculosis campaign appears to be the only prospect for making any appreciable headway against the disease in that section."

"Embodying these two ideas into law and prosecuting programs accordingly would be of the first importance in improving the health machinery of the state."

BOUNCING TUMBLERS
London—Professor E. C. Baly of Liverpool University has perfected a new process for the manufacture of non-breakable glass. It is called glass. The professor says that it was first invented by Dr. Pollock of Austria and that he has improved it to a point where it can now be moulded into shape. Glass will not break and cannot be cut with a glass cutter, but it will admit ultra-violet rays of sunlight.

ROCHELLE NEWS

Rochelle — "Pickles," that's the name of the operetta to be given by the combined glee clubs of the high school this year in the high school auditorium on March 1st. The synopsis of the operetta is:

Jonas H. Pennington, an American millionaire pickle manufacturer, with his daughter Jane arrives in Vienna amidst preparation for the annual carnival. To his consternation he finds Jones, his advertising expert, advertising Pennington's Peter Piper Pickles too well. An old acquaintance, Lady Vivian, a wealthy Englishwoman, also arrives on her annual quest in search of her daughter, who was lost near Vienna at carnival time when a baby Kinski, the pompous police chief, plots to substitute the lost child of Lady Vivian and marry her for her fortune.

A band of Gypsies visit the carnival led by Jigo, the chieftain, and his supposed daughter Iona. Events lead all to the Gypsy camp, where a magic pool reveals the face of Lady Vivian's daughter. Arthur Crepont, a poor artist, wins recognition of his art and also the hand of June Pennington. Lady Vivian consents to become Mrs. Pennington. Kinski's plot is exposed; Iona is restored to her mother and Jones is rewarded with success in his campaign for the hand of Iona.

The members of the cast follow:

Louisa Alice Hackett
Captain Kinski Herbert Bain

Bunski John Maxso.
Rumski Robert Slothowe
J. Jennison Jones Elmer Guil
Jigo Robert Russel
Iona Louise Haselton

MEASURING and mixing the ingredients—controlling the heat—can be done much more exactly when you make several small waffles than mammoth ones.

As you follow this principle, in cooking all food, so Hills Bros. apply a similar rule to roasting coffee. They roast their coffee a few pounds at a time by a continuous process instead of in bulk. As a result every berry is roasted evenly and the rich flavor of the rare blend is developed to the utmost.

No other coffee can taste like Hills Bros. because none is roasted the same way. Controlled Roasting is Hills Bros.' process exclusively. And the full-bodied flavor and rich aroma come to you in all their fullness because Hills Bros. Coffee is packed in vacuum.

Coffee-lovers everywhere overwhelmingly prefer Hills Bros. Coffee. Ask for it by name and look for the Arab, Hills Bros.' famous trade-mark, on the can.

Fresh from the original vacuum pack—easily opened with the key.

With Honce on His Trip Around State of Illinois

By CHARLES HONCE

(Associated Press News Editor)
Kewanee, Ill., Jan. 18.—(AP)—Sixty-five years ago Kewanee was a way station on the Burlington rail road.

It was just sixty-five years ago also that the Kewanee Boiler Company began operations in a shack.

Today Kewanee counts its population above 20,000 and is known as "The Boiler City."

There are still living here men who remember when this thriving industrial center was a backwoods community, owing its existence to neighboring farms.

Most of its industrial history has been written in the last three decades, but Kewanee business leaders believe this is only a paragraph or two in the book of the future.

"Kewanee is on the threshold of a great industrial future," said Philip D. Adler, editor and publisher of the Kewanee Star-Courier and a member of The Associated Press. "All the signs point to the destiny of Kewanee as one of the big industrial centers of western Illinois."

The Kewanee Chamber of Commerce believe that "from every angle Kewanee closely approximates the ideal American city of moderate size," and continues: "It is assuredly typically and ideally middle western. It is close to the soil and clings to the habits of the pioneer farmers of the Mississippi valley. No one in Kewanee is very rich and none is extremely poor. All are American, either by birth or adoption, and cherish American ideals."

One reason advanced for the contention that Kewanee's story still is part of the future is that the city is part of a far-flung web of wires centering here and extending to all parts of Illinois tapping a huge pool of electric power. A high tension transmission line connects Kewanee with the hydro-electric power plant at Keokuk, Iowa, and other power lines radiate out from here.

Outstanding among Kewanee's industries are the Kewanee Boiler Company, the largest manufacturers of steel heating boilers in the world; the Kewanee works of the Walworth Company with twenty-eight acres of plant and more than 2,000 employees, and the Boss manufacturing Company, the world's largest manufacturers of cotton gloves and mittens. These and other industries scatter an annual payroll of $6,000,000 in this community, seventy percent of whose citizens own their own homes. The city takes pride in its park system with its municipal golf course and other modern adjuncts.

This system was made possible through the generosity of E. E. Baker, late president of the Kewanee Boiler Company. Mr. Baker's public benefactions were numerous. One of them was setting up of an endowment of half a million dollars to assist deserving boys and girls through college, for crippled children, and for the support of the parks, playgrounds and other humanitarian enterprises. Mr. Baker's recent death was keenly felt by the community.

Kewanee actually can count its history for seventy-five years if the mails of the one-time town of Merian are taken into consideration. Merian, founded on May 1, 1854, was laid out along the line of the unfinished "military tract" railroad, to become later known as the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy. The town was named after the chief engineer of the railroad.

To early inhabitants, however, the name sounded too much like "Merian" and they petitioned the legislature to change it to Kewanee. The present name is of Indian origin but its meaning has been variously interpreted. "Prairie chicken" and "winter come again," are two definitions.

Other Indian names abound in this neighborhood. A short distance away is the town of Annawan. It contains at least one architectural gem, a church which might have come from the workshop of Sir Thomas Wrenn. Between Annawan and Kewanee are some fine brick farm homes of colonial design. The old type of farmhouse seems to be passing along with the little red school house. But no, the school house is still there only it has changed its color scheme. Red seems to be taboo but all the other colors of the rainbow are used.

Lomski Favored to Beat Jim Braddock

New York, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Leo Lomski of Aberdeen, Wash., will be a 7 to 5 favorite over James J. Braddock of Jersey City, when they enter the ring for their ten round battle in Madison Square Garden, tonight. But that should not worry Braddock, particularly. He was on the short end of the betting when he battled Tuffy Griffiths at the Garden some time ago, but knocked out the highly-touted Sioux City light heavyweight in two rounds.

POWER FISHING
Berlin—Electricity has voided the use of fishing nets in many parts of Germany. Two copper cables, placed one on top and one below the water, are charged with electricity. Fish in the vicinity are electrocuted and come to the surface where they are gathered by these modern fishermen.

OBITUARY

MRS. RAPHA ROLPH Ellen Elizabeth, oldest daughter of Oliver W. and Ada Hunt Griffith, was born at Ashton, Nov. 5, 1895. Her childhood was spent there and she went through Ashton school, graduating in 1913. The next fall she entered Cornell College, graduating in June, 1917. She then began to teach school in Center Point, Ia. The next year she went to Hobart, Ind., where she remained for three years and during 1922-23 she taught in the home high school. She was married to Rapha Rolph of Freeport, Sept. 2, 1923. After living there for some time she was assistant service director in the Willys-Overland Co. until a few months ago. Because it seemed best for his wife to remain with her parents he changed his position last November so he could be nearer and visit her often.

When a young girl she became a Christian and united with the Presbyterian church. Wherever she lived she was a faithful worker in the church, an organizer and leader in enjoying and giving herself freely to its activities. She was always very vigorous and energetic and while teaching overtaxed her strength and suffered from nervous trouble. This probably was the forerunner of the disease, multiple sclerosis, which came upon her with or after an attack of the grippe in 1924 which she was unable to cast off, paralysis gradually taking her strength until she peacefully slept away at 1:45 a. m. Wednesday, Jan. 16 at the home of her parents. She returned to Ashton last March to enjoy the loving care and sympathetic ministrations of her family. She was so brave and cheery during all her illness that she was an inspiration to all who visited her.

Besides her husband and parents she leaves three sisters: Marjorie, Mrs. Clarence Young of Freeport, Mary, Mrs. Wendell Griffith of Chicago, and Myra, a teacher of Home Economics in Bloomfield, Ia., also her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Hunt, and other relatives and many friends.

The funeral was from the Ashton Presbyterian church Friday afternoon at 2:30.

praise Gly-Cas, the amazing new medical discovery at the Campbell White Cross Pharmacy, for remarkable and often unhelped-for relief this new herbal remedy has given them. While talking with the Gly-Cas Man, Mrs. Louise Gorton, respected and well-known lady living at Amboy, Ill., near Dixon, recently said:

"Until I got Gly-Cas I was always using some kind of medicine for stomach disorders. It had been this way for years with me—just trying about everything, yet unable to see any real relief from my trouble and expense. Not just once in a while, but every meal I ate caused me to suffer afterwards from gas formations, belching, shortness of breath, heartburn and other distress. I guess it was only natural that I got so I simply dreaded to eat. Many times my night's rest was broken with sleeplessness. The awful gas formations in my stomach forced me to use soda for relief and I believe this treatment affected my stomach in the wrong way and made my condition worse—had been going on for years, taking stomach medicines and getting no relief, when I began to hear about the work of Gly-Cas and decided to try it. I know now that there is just one real remedy for stomach trouble and it is Gly-Cas. It took only a few days for Gly-Cas to reach my stomach disorders and now, in a period of only several weeks Gly-Cas has entirely freed me from distressing stomach troubles which I had endured for years before. I just feel better than I have for years and I'm ready to say to anyone that Gly-Cas is the only real remedy for stomach troubles."

Gly-Cas is sold in Dixon at the Campbell White Cross Pharmacy; Sold Franklin Grove, G. S. Ives; Polo, C. R. Clothier; Ashton, G. R. Charters; Amboy, Aschenbrenner Drug; Compton, W. H. Hills; Rochelle, Barker & Sullivan and by leading druggists in all surrounding towns.—Adv.

First—MONTY ENGLISH, an ex-sweetheart, has wired that he is flying over from New York to see her. Ashtoreth does not want to see him. Besides, he is in a peculiarly engaged mood. He is a millionaire, much older than himself. Ashtoreth is 23, a poor young stenographer, and beautiful as a picture.

The other bad news is the presence of SADIE MORTON in the flat. Sadie is a common little creature, a friend of poor Dave. She has already tried to blackmail Hollis Hart, and now she threatens to hold him up again. She has been to a well-known lawyer of doubtful reputation. And Ashtoreth is a millionaire.

CHAPTER XXXVII

"Oh—Sadie. We thought you were Monty."

Ashtoreth called to her mother. "Never mind the coffee, Mums. It's only Sadie."

Maizie came in from the kitchen and settled herself comfortably on the big divan.

"My goodness," she observed, glancing from one girl to the other. "You two certainly are different. I don't know as I ever saw two girls so different."

Sadie flipped her short skirts pertly.

"I ain't a red hot mottomer any more," she chattered. "Just a sweet young thing, tryin' to get along. Not a day over 16, and butter wouldn't melt in my mouth."

She was wearing a suspender skirt of red and blue, pleated smartly. Her blouse had a broad childish collar, with a blue silk tie. She wore a scarlet beret, and striped wool socks over her nude silk stockings.

Ashtoreth was in brown, and her skirt was five inches longer than Sadie's.

"Ash, now," pronounced Sadie, "looks like I'd like to look. But God didn't have no clothes horse in mind when he gave me these short little legs."

She sat beside Maizie, and stuck them out derisively.

"Not so hot," she lamented. "Say Ash, if I had a couple stems like yours! There's no telling how far a good pair of legs will take a girl."

"Say, dearie, what makes you wear your skirts so long?"

MAIZIE looked slightly scandalized.

"If you'd think less about your legs, Sadie," she began.

Sadie got up restlessly, and wandered over to the radio.

"What do you say if we pluck a band out of the air, to welcome Little Sunshine home?"

She twisted the dial, looking over her shoulder at Ashtoreth.

"You give me a pain in the neck Ash—that's what you do. Here's your mother been thinking of nothin' but you ever since you been away. Workin' her fingers off while you were playing the grand lady. Slavin' all day, cleanin' the place, and cookin'. And she don't get so much as a pleasant look out of you. Anybody'd think you'd be a wake—that's what they'd think. What's the matter with you, anyway?"

Maizie looked helplessly at her daughter.

"There's something on your mind, ain't there, honey?"

AGRICULTURAL AND BUILDING WORKERS EXPECT IDLENESS

State Dept. of Labor Completes Survey of Conditions

Chicago, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Only agricultural and building workers may expect unemployment problems in Illinois during 1929, it is forecast by Sidney W. Wilcox, statistician for the state department of labor, in a review of prospects just announced.

A general improvement in employment conditions, with the improvement especially noted in manufacturing industries and printing houses is seen. Farm implements manufacturers and electrical products makers may look forward to an exceptional year, he said.

Building has suffered because of high interest rates for financing and agriculture has followed industry in its policy of reducing labor cost through use of machinery. Agriculture's declining labor graph however, will be at least partially offset by the men drawn into the manufacture of agricultural implements. Chicago, Moline, Sterling, Rock Falls and Rock Island all have experienced improved conditions because of the demand for implements, Wilcox reported.

"The prospect for the agricultural worker is not good," Wilcox said. "Free employment officers throughout the state reiterate the statement that farmers are taking fewer and fewer workers. The explanation is that they are making increased use of machinery, especially power driven equipment. Even the seasonal demand for harvest hands is being reduced by the combine which introduces new methods of wheat harvesting. It seems more and more apparent that the technically trained worker will soon replace the old-fashioned farm hand."

"Economists and others who have observed the decline in demand for factory workers have entertained the hope that retail and wholesale trade would absorb many of the workers being displaced by technological changes. It is becoming more and more apparent, however, that trade is also undergoing a revolution which will result probably in decreased labor costs. Two chains have already announced their intention of installing mechanical distribution devices."

"Despite the widespread movement to reduce labor cost, there are now 24 per cent more workers employed than was the case a year ago."

"The course of factory employment during the coming twelve months will be influenced largely by a movement in metals, meat packing, printing, and clothing."

"Of the metal industries which age of the total show more names than at any time in their history. A pickup may be expected during January and February, after which activity generally declines until July. "In the Illinois wood products group the industry of leading importance is the manufacture of furniture which is centralized largely in Rockford and Chicago. National summaries of this industry are not particularly favorable, although the Illinois industry has been experiencing recently a period of renewed activity. The advertising which is being promoted by furniture groups throughout the country may bring about an increased demand for their products with a consequent increase in working forces. Whether this advertising will be able to counteract the negative influence of the decline in building and of the tendency to reduce the size of apartments in large cities is yet to be seen. "With the exception of glass, which has an outlet in the automobile industry, the future course of employment in building products will be influenced by the amount of building in the middle west. Since construction in Illinois gives promise of being rather dull, the outlook for employment in the manufacture of its materials is none too happy.

"Owing to an increase in the population and to the growing popularity of electricity, employment in the public utilities group may be expected to increase during the coming year as it has during 1928. No less than 96,000 workers are already attached to the industry and many more may be expected to enter within the coming decade, if the growth continues its rate of the last five years. Railroad car repair shops have passed through a rather unfavorable year, owing to general depressed conditions during the first six months and to the coal strike which curtailed the demand for cars. Since, however, both manufacturing and coal mining industries are regarded as being on the upswing, the prospects are generally regarded as good."

Suffering From Lockjaw Greatest

BY CONRAD GEORGE, JR., M. D. Ann Arbor, Michigan

(This series of articles is prepared under the direction of the Gorgas Memorial Institute, which is organized to perpetuate the life work of the late Major-General Gorgas in preventing unnecessary illness. Headquarters of the Gorgas Memorial are at 1331 G. Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.)

Most people fail to appreciate the danger that may follow small wounds if they are not properly treated. Often a child steps on a rusty nail. The latter is pulled out of the foot and the wound is perhaps treated with salt pork or mercuriochrome or iodine. The child does not feel much pain in the wound. It only hurts when he steps on it, and as far as the ordinary observer can tell, healing takes place normally. Finally at the end of six days or two weeks the child begins to complain of a little stiffness, and slight pain in the muscles of the face or in the neighborhood of the wound. Later on there is noticed a slight difficulty or pain on swallowing. Then the parents begin to get suspicious that all is not well with the child and the family physician is summoned. But relief is sought too late and lockjaw had developed. The death rate from this disease is over 50 per cent.

If the case had been brought to the doctor's office at the time that the wound was received and a dose of antitoxin administered, the disease might have been averted.

The physical suffering in lockjaw is probably greater than that of any other known disease. The family physician should be consulted in the case of any wound of the feet or hands or a punctured wound in any part of the body. Wounds of any kind, whether large or small, may be followed by lockjaw. It was formerly very common after Fourth of July accidents because the germs are present in gun powder. The germ is also present in the soil and in the manure of the horse. The disease is, therefore contracted through wounds contaminated with particles of dust, earth or clothing. Certain soils contain very many lockjaw germs and others very few.

An interesting case was that of a woman who stepped on a rusty nail and developed lockjaw two weeks later. At the operation it was found that a part of the sole and the lining of the shoe had been driven into the foot and the germs were found there. She recovered after a very stormy illness of two weeks.

The disease is accompanied by convulsions that are very distressing for the family to observe, and the patient's suffering is intense. The best advice to give to parents is to consult the family physician in all cases of penetrating wounds.
